Many scholars have written regarding social cause movements, like the civil rights movement and the peace movements and the FBI's crude and sometimes downright illegal tactics in dealing with them. PETA itself has a history of FBI and ATF harassment. We suffered through (successfully) defeating subpoenas to examine our membership and volunteer lists, and many of us were compelled to give handwriting samples and photographs and to appear before grand juries without lawyers present. Wire taps were put on our telephones (dollars to doughnuts they are there again now, and that's not being paranoid, just practical), our telephone records were seized at source, and the postal authority turned over our mail for pre-sorting. All this happened because, unable to come up with real evidence and pinpoint anyone in particular, the FBI set out to "troll" through the most outspoken animal rights group and see if they turned up anything. Doesn't sound very much like the America we know and love, but there you are.

I don't say any of this to alarm you, for you will probably never receive any communication from the FBI/Homeland Security/local law enforcement but to warn you that if you do, it is not at all smart to think you can outwit them, convert them, or just give them "harmless" information and they'll go away. By allowing an FBI agent to write in his book, "Spoke for 20 mins to (your name here)." instead of "She has nothing to say," you have helped keep the chain alive. If you talk to them, they write things like "(your name here) confirmed that she 'knows all about the ALF' and is familiar with the recent mink liberation," when, in fact, you simply answered "Yes" to the question "Do you know what the ALF is?" and "Yes, I read about it in a newspaper clipping" to the question "What do you know about the mink liberation?" If you invite them in, talk to them, and so on, you will almost certainly be used in the future.

One reason people disregard this advice is because the first reaction most of us have is to think "well, we have nothing to hide, so what's the harm?" Or, my favorite, "But, they seemed so nice!" How far would they get with us if they said, "I hate animals" or "I'm out to get you?" One of our staff recounts how an FBI agent came and sat next to him when he was detained after a protest. The agent was very friendly, slouched in his chair and called the police who had been at the demo, "jerks." He acted as if he and our staffer were old friends and casually asked our fellow for his name, his age, how long he'd worked at PETA, if he traveled much in his work, if "higher ups" decided how a demo was going to go. When our person said he wasn't answering and would need to speak to an attorney, the FBI agent acted offended and said, "Wow, we were just having a conversation here." He then told our staffer that he'd heard him on the radio and that "you were articulate, fantastic. That one caller - he was an idiot." When it was clear he wasn't going to get answers, he left the room.

Here is exactly what seasoned attorneys suggest most strongly that you do if approached by an FBI agent, other Homeland Security or other law enforcement officer: who wants to "just chat." Say politely but firmly and without hesitation, "I have nothing to say" and then hang up, walk away, close the door. Do not be coerced or charmed into helping them by "just answering a few easy questions." If anyone tries to detain you, ask "Am I under arrest?" If they cannot say "yes," you are free to go. Walk or drive away.

If they ring or knock or approach you again, say "Please leave me

b6 -5

alone. You are harassing me." Say nothing more. It seems rude, but law enforcement officers are used to hearing it and won't take it personally. They will go away. If you converse with them, you will be called/visited again.

In light of the constitution, you have the freedom to associate with whomever you choose, and the right to say what you believe in without fear of reprisal, and they have no right to harass those who object to exploitation, war, racial discrimination, animal slavery and the like.

Thank you.
Ingrid Newkirk

New Information: Norfolk SAC granted a second 90 day extension for this TEI-PI on 05/28/2004. This Preliminary Inquiry is now set to expire on 08/28/2004.

Background: On 08/29/2003, Norfolk initiated a Terrorism Enterprise Investigation (TEI)-Preliminary Inquiry on People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA), Inc., headquartered in Norfolk, Virginia. PETA is suspected of providing material support and resources to known domestic terrorist organizations such as the Animal Liberation Front (ALF) and the Earth Liberation Front (ELF). A 90-day PI extension was granted on 02/28/2004 which expired on 05/28/2004.

In the portion of your article entitled "The PETA Link" you accurately state that the FBI does not consider PETA a terrorist organization. Unfortunately, that is the only accurate statement in that section. At no time did SA [REDACTED] or SA [REDACTED] "...recount financial dealings between PETA and ELF" or make the statements you attribute to them on that subject during their presentation or at any other point. In fact, when told that you had information through your own investigation that PETA was contributing money to ELF, these agents simply acknowledged that the same information was available on public internet sites and was not of investigative concern to the FBI. Apparently that answer was not what you were hoping for.

Everyone,

I received a telephone call and a fax from Philadelphia Division, State College RA (SCOLRA) advising of the following information:

b6 -4
b7C -4

During the week of April 18 through 20, 2005 a spokesperson for PETA, Loring Harkness, will present at a lecture at the request of the Alliance for Animal Rights (AAR) at Penn State University. Harkness will lecture on April 18, 2005 and April 20, 2005. [REDACTED] The AAR is a registered PSU Student Organization sanctioned and funded by the University. The AAR has in the recent past performed Legal Protest against the Zola's Restaurant, Kentucky Fried Chicken as well as circuses.

Of interest, during the week of April 14 through April 17, 2005, the Ringling Brothers Circus will be at the Jordan Center in State College, Pennsylvania. On April 16, 2005, PSU will host the Little International Livestock Exhibition and the Penn State Dairy Exposition. These dates also coincide with WWAIL.

SCOLRA has notified the local and state law enforcement as well as PSU University Police. All involved have decided to make appropriate notifications to local farms and any identified possible targets; providing information to public relations officials at PSU, as well as other affected entities; and an increase in covert law enforcement activity in the area.

SCOLRA is aware that PETA is a legal organization exercising its first amendment rights and has articulated same to local law enforcement entities. SCOLRA will not conduct investigation into this gathering unless attendees engage in criminal activity.

Greetings All--

I listened to the Corey and Jay Show this morning. [REDACTED] called in and stated that the protest would not take place. Apparently, some of the parents got wind of the plan and were not very supportive of the protest. So, as of about 0830 this morning the protest is off according to [REDACTED]. However, there is an audio clip on the Corey and Jay website, www.coreyandjayshow.com/AudioDownloads.html that provides a bit of background into this situation.

This is the information I have confirmed as of today, regarding a planned PETA protest at Clear Channel's radio Station 105.1, KMJX FM, better known as "Magic 105" in Little Rock. The protest is apparently planned for 5:00 p.m., Friday, March 11, 2005, at the Clear Channel facility, located at 10800 Colonel Glenn Road, Little Rock, Arkansas. A copy of the e-mail received by the Corey and Jay Show at KMJX from [redacted] sent on 3/8/2005 is as follows:

"Dear Supporter,

Thank you so very much for being involved in our ever-so-necessary cause. As you know, our Little Rock chapter will be protesting the Corey and Jay Show at Clear Channel Metroplex on Friday 11th at 5:00pm. Most of the 27 members signed up to protest are in junior high school and will need us to arrange to pick them up.

Parents will be told that their children are on a "field trip" and this is not to be strayed from. Veggie-Lasagna and Dasani water will be provided to those who attend.

Why protest Corey and Jay Show?

The Corey and Jay Show have become very popular in the Little Rock area since their introduction to the airwaves, their indecent topics ranging from animal cruelty to discussions of eating meat. Their program has gone too far and we will stand up and let our voices be heard! Corey and Jay Show, HERE WE COME!

To hear the opening battle cry of our war against Corey and Jay show, visit their own tacky website and see just how neanderthalaic (sic) these imbasits (sic) truely (sic) are!"

Apparently, some time in the past year or so, [redacted] was a caller to the Corey and Jay Show, felt he was [redacted] and now is encouraging a protest against the station. The Corey and Jay Show website apparently has recordings of those calls posted, and are the basis of [redacted] reference to the show's website in his final sentence in the above e-mail. [redacted] is one of the Little Rock leaders, if not the leader, of Little Rock's PETA.
